

CPSC 351 — Information about the Final Examination

Time, Duration, and Location

The first CPSC 351 final examination will be held from 5:00pm until 7:00pm on Tuesday, December 17. Students whose family names begin with the letters A–G will write this test in ENE 243, while students whose family names begin with the letters H–Z will write the test in ENG 60.

Material Covered

The test will cover all material introduced in lectures in this course. However, there will be a slight emphasis on Probability Theory for Computer Science because this material has not been assessed in previous tests.

Recommended Aids — and Information about What is, and is not, Allowed

Students are asked to prepare a double-sided letter-sized page of notes ahead of time, which they can refer to while the test is being written. No other aids are allowed.

The test must be completed by the student alone — consultation with others about the test material, during the test period, is academic misconduct.

Practice Examination

A practice examination is now available on the course D2L site.
