

CPSC 351 — Spring, 2026

Information about the Final Examination

Time, Duration, and Location

The first CPSC 351 final examination will be held from 9:00am until 11:00am on Tuesday, Friday, June 19 in ENE 239.

Material Covered

The test will cover all course material that was not assessed on the midterm test, that is, all material concerning Turing machines and computability, as well as discrete probability for computer science. This includes material introduced in Lectures #6–#11 (from Thursday, May 21 until Tuesday, June 9) and also considered in Tutorials #6–#10 (from Tuesday, May 26 until Thursday, June 11).

Recommended Aids — and Information about What is, and is not, Allowed

Students are asked to prepare a double-sided letter-sized page of notes ahead of time, which they can refer to while the test is being written. No other aids are allowed.

Practice Examination

A practice examination is now available on the course D2L site.