You can find multiple choice review questions (when they are available) in D2L under:
`Assessments->Quizzes`

For all questions, unless otherwise specified assume that there are no syntax errors in any programs or program fragments.

Short answer:

Why is it easier to make changes to software using the agile approach instead of the traditional waterfall approach to software development?