

You can find multiple choice review questions (when they are available) in D2L under:
Assessments->Quizzes

For all questions, unless otherwise specified assume that there are no syntax errors in any programs or program fragments.

---

Short answer:

Computer security programs are sometimes criticized as teaching students how do 'bad' things such as writing malicious software. Thus the argument is that these programs are bad because 'hackers' are being taught how to 'hack'. Discuss.